

NO WORD OF THE FLIERS; AIR SILENT

Vigil Last Night Un-Re-warded—Think the Calls Faked

Chicago, Aug. 25.—(AP)—If the missing "Rockford Fliers" were on the air last night with their wireless station KHAH, Chicago amateurs were unable to communicate with them.

At station 9CEJ, operated by R. J. Harris who reported receiving message from the fliers Thursday night, were gathered a group of several amateur operators and a group of newspapermen. W. R. Williamson of the Central Airways, a friend of both Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer, the missing Rockford-to-Sweden fliers said:

"What we got was a series of signals such as might have come from a set powered by a hand generator. Whether they had such a generator, I don't know."

Experts of the Burgess battery company at Madison, Wis., said the plane did not have such a generator.

A series of six questions was prepared for transmission to the airmen by Joseph Faust, a relative by marriage of Hassell. Failure of Harris to establish communication with KHAH prevented the sending of the questions which were designed to determine if the "Rockford Fliers" as they signed themselves were really Hassell and Cramer.

Federal government raid headquarters for the Dominion of Canada at Ottawa announced that a thorough canvass of stations in northern Canada had failed to disclose any operator who had heard from the Rockford fliers Thursday night.

The United States guard cutter Marion, radioed Washington last night that she had abandoned the search for the missing plane because of lack of definite information that the plane had been near Fiskerns, Greenland.

It was a week ago today that the monoplane Greater Rockford started for Mt. Evans, Greenland, from Cochrane, Ont. It last reported its position as 75 miles off Cape Chidley, Labrador.

SEEK FAKE AUTHORS.

Hartford, Conn., Aug. 25.—(AP)—The executive committee of the American Radio Relay League, Inc., at a special meeting today voted to authorize a reward of $500 for information leading to the apprehension of the person or persons who broadcast the messages signed "Rockford Fliers" and which are now believed to have been faked.

Hassell formerly worked in Grand Rapids and is well known there.

The Rockford flight backers also announced they had sent out a description of the Greater Rockford's radio transmitting set to all radio stations to assist them in endeavors to communicate with the lost aviators.

Dolph Looks Like Winner In Golf Tourney Today

BY BASIL G. WYRICK

(Associated Press Golf Writer)
Bob O'Link Club, Chicago, Ill., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Out played and out lucked, Gus Novotny of Chicago today found himself in the almost hopeless position of six down at the end of the first round to Frank Dolp of Portland, Oregon, in the finals for the Western Amateur Golf championship today.

Dolp, who was champion two years ago, scored within a stroke of par on the 7200 yard links, while Novotny, formerly golf captain at the University of Illinois had some bad places and took 82. Dolp was over par on only three holes and got as many birdies, while his opponent got only 9 pars and one birdie.

Nine Prisoners Escape Kentucky Jail Last Night

New Port, Ky., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Nine prisoners, one a convicted murderer under life sentence, escaped from the city jail here sometime during the night. Eight hacksaw blades, severed iron bars and a rope dangling from a second story window of the lock-up told the story of the escape which, officers believe, was perfected at least an hour before the discovery was made this morning. Seven other prisoners, who also might have escaped, did not take advantage of the opportunity.

Kin Of Dixonites Shoots Five Bears With Bow-Arrow

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Teachout, 223 Lincoln Way have received word of the success of their nephew, C. B. Betts of Portland, Ore., on a recent unique hunting trip in which he used a bow and arrow instead of firearms to kill his game.

Mr. Betts, a member of the Portland Archers' association took a trip to the Oregon coast recently, and after hunting ten days, armed only with bow and quiver, single handed bagged five bears. His success with the bow and arrow came after fifteen months of training and in relating his experience, says:

"I shot the largest bear twice at a range of 40 yards and the wounded animal charged me. I was without any more arrows and I thought it prudent to fall back. I retreated until I got in touch with my arrow bearer, a quarter of a mile away and then with a fresh supply of darts, retraced my steps. When I got back to where I had started from I found the bear had died after crawling perhaps 20 yards."

BERNARD SHAW AND GENE PLAN A VISIT SOON

Dublin Librarian Impressed By The Fighters Culture

London, Aug. 25.—(AP)—There is a good chance that Gene Tunney will achieve his wish to meet George Bernard Shaw, who is taking a holiday at Antibes, France.

The Daily Mail's correspondent at Antibes told Shaw of Tunney's expressed desire to meet him and the latter replied: "Tell Gene I will be delighted to meet him. In fact I have every intention of making his acquaintance. I will be back in London Sept. 15 and hope to see him then."

Shaw added that he did not intend to allow reporters or photographers at the meeting. "We will meet as private gentlemen," he said. "I will discuss boxing and Gene will discuss literature, so we ought to get along very well."

"All I know about Tunney's literary taste is that he disapproves Cashel Byron's Profession," Shaw said. "So do I. It shows he has some taste and that we have something in common."

GENE SHOWS CULTURE

Dublin, August 25.—(AP)—Visiting Trinity College library, Gene Tunney came across a first edition of Shakespeare which he handled lovingly and parted with reluctantly.

"If a miracle were to happen and I were to be offered what I liked most in this delightful place I would choose this Shakespeare folio," the former champion declared after having a second look at the work.

After the ex-champion had departed one of the library officials remarked: "I have had cultured Americans here, but Tunney impressed me more than any. His innate culture is evident."

Tunney spent the night as guest of the noted singer John McCormack, at the latter's home Moore Abbey.

AUTO RACES TODAY AT STATE FAIR TO CLOSE UP PROGRAM

Officials Plan Many Improvements On The Grounds

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Jumping for his life when his automobile caught fire, D. P. Morris of Chicago, participant in the speed trials at the Illinois State Fair, was badly burned about the hands and body early this afternoon.

When he jumped his Burbach special racer crashed through the fence. At the emergency hospital, it was announced Morris was not seriously injured.

Springfield, Ill., August 25.—(AP)—Louis Schneider of Indianapolis snatched the laurels from Ira Hall of Terre Haute and established a new track record for the Illinois State Fair, in driving a Miller special around the oval in 40.9 seconds this morning.

Hall had just been announced as the fastest living driver of the mile, when Schneider smashed his time, and took the applause of the capacity grand stand audience, on the last day of Illinois' 76th annual state fair. The fair record for the mile is now only 1.97 seconds over the world record held by the late Frank Lockhart.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 25.—(AP)—With ideal weather forecast, the seventy-sixth annual Illinois State Fair was to close with its final event—the auto races this afternoon.

Louis Schneider of Indianapolis fame, with thirty other veteran dirt track drivers were to attempt to lower the world's auto race mark for a one mile dirt oval.

Yesterday, the cream of the mid-west's livestock passed in review. Premiums and ribbons having been awarded it was expected the exodus would start today.

However fair officials announced that all exhibits would remain in place until after 4 o'clock this afternoon to give late comers a chance to view premium winners.

Harvey Highland Davison, Minonk, won the highest award in the better babies conference with a perfection rating of 99.5. He was selected from 1,117 children.

As the final event neared, fair officials declared the exposition this year, very gratifying both as to exhibits and attendance. Plans were already under way by the State Fair Board to outline building activities and improvement for the 1929 exposition.

Improved facilities for the 4-H Club activities were promised. The women's building was to be vacated and a new one built in the new addition of the grounds.

May Build A Zoo.

Fair officials promised a continuation of the driveway construction program, and the landscaping of the grounds. There is a possibility that a zoo may be built.

A new poultry pavilion, is the understanding of officials said. "This show has grown until in each of the past three years, it has had the largest number of entries of all poultry pigeon and rabbit shows in the world," W. L. Lindley manager of the exposition said today.

KELLOGG SPENDS DAY AT FORMAL SOCIAL AFFAIRS

French People Impressed With His Moderation

Paris, Aug. 25.—(AP)—After a good night's rest in his comfortable quarters at the American embassy, Secretary Kellogg today had to attend a long program of official social events in honor of the statesmen here to sign the war renunciation treaty Monday.

Frenchmen who have talked with him have been impressed by his simple, dignified manner and his insistence that credit for the great work about to reach its culmination is due to M. Briand's initiative.

The secretary's moderation also appeals to the people. Le Matin refers to the wise formula pronounced by Kellogg when he landed at Havre—"to render war more difficult."

This, the paper observes, clearly defines the object of the pact and does not old out hopes impossible of realization.

LEE COUNTY FAIR CLOSED YESTERDAY WITH FINE CROWD

Rain Insurance Thursday Was Big Help To The Association

The Lee county fair at Amboy drew to a close last evening, the final day being the leader of the four days in attendance at both the afternoon and evening programs. Despite the fact that Thursday, the big day of the fair, was fair developed into one of the most successful of recent years. Secretary Gilbert P. Finch was largely responsible for this, and because of his foresightedness, the fair association realized a neat sum from rain insurance which was collected Thursday.

The grounds were filled from noon yesterday until midnight last night and patrons of the fair declared that one of the best racing programs in years was witnessed yesterday afternoon. In at least two of the events the track record was threatened and would have been shattered had the winning horses been backed by stronger competition. The track was fast, the weather ideal and with a field of fine racing stock and experienced drivers, no better program could have been anticipated.

Oregon Driver Thrown
Burrig of Oregon, driving Elwood K., owned by L. S. Ports of Polo, was thrown from his sulky at the quarter pole in the first heat of the opening race, the 2:20 pace, but escaped with only minor bruises. From the grand stand it appeared that the driver of Dixie Mahon, owned by J. Mahon of Rockford, locked wheels with the sulky driven by the Oregon veteran, throwing him to the track.

Dixie Mahon's driver finished the mile with a tire flapping from one of the wheels of his sulky which had been torn off in the mixup.

Baby Doll, owned by Roy Gallup of Grand Ridge, a favorite on the Amboy track, could not be approached by any of the members of the remainder of the field in the opening race and romped away with three straight heats. The result of the Friday afternoon racing program was as follows:

2:20 Pace
Baby Doll, Roy Gallup, Grand Ridge ..... 1 1 1

GIRL IS FOUND KILLED-HIDDEN UNDER CULVERT

May Be Milwaukee Domestic Missing Since Last June

Elkhorn, Wis., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Examining the body of the young woman found stuffed into a culvert Tuesday, coroner's physician found a scar on the left shoulder near here Friday morning. Dr. E. J. Ridgeway, coroner's physician, said that the scar was the same as that carried by Lenora Abitz, Milwaukee domestic, missing since June 10.

It was the first clue the police have obtained as to the possible identity of the young woman whose murder was disclosed by the finding of her decomposed body in a culvert three miles south of here Friday morning. William Abitz, Wausau, Wis., father of the domestic left Wausau by automobile this morning for Elkhorn in an effort to identify the body.

The Abitz girl was 25 years old, and according to Milwaukee police records was five feet, five and one half inches tall, weighed about 120 pounds, had long dark hair and dark complexion. In some respects this tallied with the descriptions of the slain girl. Her age had been placed between 18 and 24 years, height five feet two inches to five feet five inches, dark hair bobbed about eleven inches long.

The Milwaukee police reported that Miss Abitz who had been in Milwaukee 27 months when she disappeared was last seen when she left the home of Nell Oggle to go to the home of her parents or her sweetheart with whom she was reported to have had a quarrel. She was not seen again and police were without a clue as to her whereabouts.

Weekly Grain

Chicago, Aug. 25—(AP)—With unimpaired prospects pointing to a record wheat crop in Canada, United States wheat is down to a basis where some wheat is reported underselling corn. Moreover, the wheat price level at terminals in this country is figured by trade authorities here as below production cost, and according to current advices more or less wheat is being fed to livestock.

Compared to a week ago, wheat values this morning in Chicago were showing a drop of 1½ to 2½¢ a bushel, with corn varying from ¼¢ to ½¢ decline to 1½¢ advance. Oats ¼¢ to ½¢ up, and provisions at a setback ranging from 2 to 7¢ a hundred-weight.

An interesting feature in the wheat price situation is that $1.10 a bushel, at which September delivery of wheat closed here last night, equals about 80¢ before the present condition of the market is an estimated unsold domestic exportable surplus of 250,000,000 bu.

Trade summaries current here today state that foreigners are thoroughly familiar with the fact that there is an immense quantity of wheat for export in the United States and Canada which must be sold. It is added that trans-Atlantic buyers before buying heavily are waiting for the two countries to start to compete in disposing of spring wheat. On the other hand, farmers in the northwest are reported as holding back as much wheat as possible, hoping for an upturn in values. Just now, low-grade wheat in Chicago is selling at as much as 5 to 10¢ a bushel under the price of graded corn.

Corn available for immediate use and for September delivery is commanding high premiums owing to relative scarcity. New crop prospects, however, outside of fair-sized areas in Nebraska, Iowa and South Dakota, are reported as splendid, assuring a 3,000,000,000 bushel yield, barring frosts which could of course damage the crop severely. Oats prices have tightened up owing to excellent demand both for domestic and export account.

Provisions reflect assertions that although cash trade is fair the volume is not as large as it should be considering supplies on hand.

Butter Market

Chicago, Aug. 25—(AP)—From a broad viewpoint, the butter market situation is best described as steady. Such irregularities in price changes, market demand, and market sentiment, as are reported appears to be locally caused as a rule and of no effect on the country-wide situation. Meanwhile, some of the larger buyers of butter have turned to storage reserves, and many owners of storage goods are said to be free and willing sellers.

As expected and natural, the production of butter is showing general declines.

Le Bourget, France, Aug. 25—(AP)—An attempt to span the Atlantic by air from east to west failed this morning when the monoplane France returned to the flying field here at 7:20 o'clock, shortly after having taken off on what was hoped would be a non-stop flight to New York.

In taking off, the plane narrowly missed colliding with high tension electric wires skirting the field and it was due to dexterous handling by Captain Louis Courdoret, the pilot, that the machine was saved from destruction and its three occupants from death.

The crew consisted of Courdoret, Count Louis De Nally-Nesle, relief pilot, and Captain Mailleux, navigator. The attempt to lift their machine, loaded with 1,200 gallons of gasoline, was made more difficult by an unfavorable wind.

So little altitude had been gained at the end of the take-off stretch that the landing gear struck a board fence bonding the field, smashing one of the wheels.

Captain Mailleux saved the day by opening the emergency safety cock and emptying the extra gasoline tanks. Gasoline still was streaming from the tanks when the plane landed with a bump, bursting the tire on the undamaged wheel.

The pilot said he would try the flight again as soon as the plane can be repaired. The aviators were not injured.

TILDEN IS BARRED FROM TENNIS FOR WRITING ARTICLES

Famous Court Star Indefinitely Suspended As Amateur

New York, Aug. 25—(AP)—William T. Tilden, 2nd, gaunt veteran of the tennis courts, has been barred indefinitely from amateur competition.

The lanky Philadelphia, veteran of nine Davis cup campaigns, six-times holder of the national singles title and by many regarded as the greatest tennis player of all times, was found guilty early today of violating the amateur player-writer rule of the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

This verdict, reached by the association's executive committee after nearly six hours of discussion, was accompanied by Tilden's indefinite suspension from further competition as an amateur.

The committee, announcing its decision in a lengthy statement, held that Tilden clearly had violated the player-writer rule by his newspaper articles on the English championship this summer at Wimbledon where he was a competitor.

To Seek Reinstatement

Little surprised by the adverse decision, Tilden, who now is in Boston in connection with a vaudeville appearance, refused to comment. Friends intimated, however, that he would seek reinstatement at a meeting of the executive committee next month.

The charges against Tilden, made by the advisory and finance committee of the U. S. L. T. A., first came to public print, on July 19, on the eve of the Davis cup inter-zone finals at Paris between Italy and the United States. The Philadelphia, captain of the American forces, was dropped from the squad but was reinstated in time to play in the challenge round against France.

The committee statement revealed that the adverse decision against the veteran star had been influenced not only by his Wimbledon articles but also by another written by him in France on July 17 for the Christy Walsh syndicate and published in the New York World the following day. In this dispatch Tilden announced the lineup for the United States team against the Italians.

Was Exclusive Story.

"No announcement of the players who would represent the United States in the Italian match was made in any other newspaper published in the United States until the following day, July 19, when announcement was made in an Associated Press dispatch from France," the committee declared.

"The executive committee was of the opinion that this announcement made by the captain of the United States team in an article written and sold by him in advance of the general announcements was not only in bad taste but a violation of the spirit and letter of section 3 of the amateur rule which provides that no person shall be allowed to enter a match played under the auspices of the association if he has been declared ineligible to compete because of having exploited for pecuniary gain his position as a tennis player, or because of having acted in a way detrimental to the welfare of the game."

DEPOSITORS ARE SAFE

Chicago, Aug. 25—(AP)—Depositors in the State Bank and Trust Company of Downers Grove will suffer no loss through the activities of Roy C. Toombs, former head of the institution, state auditor Oscar Nelson said today as he heard the end of a survey of the bank's books.

The bank was closed recently following the sensational developments in the bankruptcy proceedings of the Toombs and daily brokerage house, of which Toombs was president.

Sheriff Resigns After Man Found Murdered-Burned

Angola, Ind., August 24—(AP)—Charles Zimmerman, sheriff of Steuben county, resigned this afternoon on the demand of Judge C. C. Carlin of the Steuben-Lagrange circuit court who returned here from a vacation to investigate the mysterious slaying of E. S. Bliss, thought to have been a run runner.

Dr. P. S. Humphreys, Steuben county coroner, will function as acting sheriff until a successor for Zimmerman is appointed by the commissioners.

The headless body of Bliss was found Wednesday in a burned barn. His automobile and clothing were found in the jail garage.

Under the law he can be compelled to stay in jail for six months. Loef said he intended to pay bond for that length of time.

At any rate, Loef obtained $1,200 judgment in court last April and when Tatalovich refused payment, he decided to have him put in jail under the old debtor's law. He held up his revenge until the last week in August, expecting it would be hot in jail then. Last night he posted $7 for the first week's bond, but the weather has turned cooler.

Tatalovich refused to pay judgment for striking a negro woman in 1924 after a quarrel over a loaf of bread, and was sent to jail where he "sat it out" for three days and then paid judgment.

STOCKS MAKING FURTHER GAINS DURING TODAY

Trading In Large Volume Resumed On N. Y. Exchange

BY STANLEY W. PRENOOSIL

(Financial Editor)

New York, Aug. 25—(AP)—The stock market gave another impressive demonstration of strength in today's brief session. More than a score of issues were elevated to new high levels for a year or longer on gains of 1 to nearly 5 points. Trading was again in large volume, several blocks of 5000 to 14,000 shares changing hands.

The optimistic character of week-end trade reviews, coupled with the recent improvement in the brokers loan situation, furnished the background for the advance. Public participation, which had been an important factor in the day's proceedings, was again in evidence.

Allied Chemical, Warner Brothers Pictures A, Kroger Stores, Atlantic Refining, Drug Inc., and National Cash Register, all advanced 3 to 6½ points to new high records. Greene Cananea Copper also ran up 6 points and Reading, Houston Oil, Radio, General Motors and Curtiss sold 3 to 4 points higher.

Adams Express lost 11 points of yesterday's 14 point gain, but Montgomery Ward quickly made up an early decline of 5 points. The closing was strong. Total sales approximated 1,500,000 shares.

Calendar of Coming Events

Monday
W. R. C.—G. A. R. Hall.

SEED-TIME—The fields lie swathed in misty blue. Dim vapors crown the wooded heights. From every trembling spray the dew shoots back the morning's quivering light. In hollows where the tender fern uncurls beside the glimmering burn, The cool gray shadows linger yet, To kiss the pale young violet. Hark! singing through the orchard close. And whistling o'er the furrowed plain. The lusty sower blithely goes To drop the golden grain.

Clear morning sounds are in the air; The birds their jocund matins swell; Each stream makes music fine and rare; Each fountain rings its crystal bell. Sweet from the blooming apple-trees, Come elfin quirlings of the bees, And from far uplands, faintly borne, Float mellow greetings to the morn. O tuneful world! each wind that blows Brings from the field a glad refrain.

Where, singing still, the sower goes And drops his golden grain—James B. Kenyon, in "Realms of Gold."

Saunders-Ward Wedding Celebrated

A wedding of interest to Sterling and Dixon friends was solemnized when on Saturday in Sterling Miss Elizabeth Mary Ward and Donald F. Saunders were united in marriage at 3:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Ward, 299 Avenue B, Dr. E. C. Harris, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church, officiating at the ceremony, using the ring service, witnessed by the parents and relatives of the young couple. They both have many friends in Dixon.

The bride and groom are socially prominent in this community, and members of the younger social set. Both are graduates from the Sterling township high school and higher institutions of learning where they completed their education.

Mrs. Saunders attended Abbott Academy, Andover, Mass., and also the University of Illinois. Last year she was a successful teacher on the faculty of the Sterling township high school. Mr. Saunders, who is the younger son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Saunders, was educated at the Universities of Iowa and Pittsburgh. At present he is director of publicity at the University of Pittsburgh.

Their many friends join in wishing the young couple a happy married life.

LONDON DEBS MATCH COIFFURE AND NECKLINE

(London)—(AP)—A style innovation of the London debutantes is the fashion of grooming the line of the hair to follow the neckline of the frock worn.

The V-necked frock is given point by the reverse V of a middle parting, with hair drawn demurely back over the ears into a small bun at the nape of the neck, which is the favored coiffure of the moment.

With a round neckline the hair is parted low on one side and curved over the forehead. Ears are "worn" with this coiffure, and if the hair is being grown it is knotted softly or rolled in at the back; otherwise it is curled behind the ears and kept in place with barrettes.

Scallops are chic for frocks and looks alike, and a scalloped neckline is repeated in hair waved in regular undulations on the forehead from either a middle or side parting.

The "bateau" or straight line from shoulder to shoulder, which is a feature of some new Paris models, has its parallel in the straight cut fringe which sometimes softens the severity of the new long bobs, revealing the ears of the wearers.

A fringed neckline is a good match for the wind blown bob, and if the hair curls in unruly fashion all over the head fringed necklines are suggested.

Miss Esther Winn Was Honored Guest

Mrs. James Angell of Sterling, nee Ruth Worthington, of this city, and Miss Alice Byers were hostesses last evening at a delightful party honoring Miss Esther Winn, who in the near future is to become the bride of Willard Weaver of Hollywood, Cal. Mrs. Angell and Miss Byers entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wallie Worthington, Mrs. Angell's parents, in Dixon.

The entertainment last evening included bridge and a "shower" for the bride-to-be. Green and pink were the colors combined in the attractive decorations, many lovely flowers in pink with ferns being employed, the tallies and nut cups following the idea, also, and pink candles shed a soft radiance over the happy scene. There were guests for four tables of bridge. Mrs. E. A. Anderson of DeKalb, formerly Miss Winnifred Scott of Dixon, was awarded the favor for high honors at bridge; Miss Ann Hoffman winning the second favor and Miss Esther Winn winning the cut prize or favor; while the consolation favor was presented to Miss Ruth Kerz.

After bridge a shower of lovely gifts was held for Miss Winn and they were presented with the best wishes from all for her future happiness.

The proceeds go to swell the funds of the welfare work of the Woman's club and it is the hope of the committee in charge to make a surplus that will be worth the work of putting on the event.

The WOMAN'S DAY by ALLENE SUGGER

When Texas Guinan, famous night club hostess, made a Roman holiday of her appearance in court, it only testified all over again that one man's meat is another man's poison. Going to court is meat and drink to Texas. It is page one news. She thinks up a whole new kaboodle of wise cracks. She selects her wardrobe and jewels as carefully as for a first night appearance. She takes her press agent along so that he'll be sure to hand out to the press her wise-cracks at the judge and the majesty of the law.

When Sam Brown of Main Street had to appear in police court the other morning because he parked too long in front of the drugstore, his wife took to her bed and vowed she'd never live down the disgrace. There are still parts of America where an appearance in court is not boasted of. But just try getting "Tex" Guinan of the pearl ropes to believe that!

AL FAMILY MAN!

Governor Al Smith's record as a husband and a father is said to be the bait for the feminine vote, according to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, chairman of the woman's advisory committee for the Democratic national campaign.

The country's womanhood will be reminded that the governor never lets any business interfere with his daily call to "Katie" his wife, wherever he may be; that the gubernatorial mansion is littered with pictures of Al affectionately inscribed to "my beloved helpmate," and there are grists of photographs of Smith, the father, playing with his little grandchildren, hugging his daughters, etc.

Nor is this bunk. Smith's most ardent enemies have never been able to find any flaw in him as a home man. His devotion to his home and wife and children is utterly accepted as fact. One wonders, however, if this fact will mean as much to the woman voter of today as to the one of yesterday. Women still like good family men, of course. But since their own world is not the home so exclusively as it once was, it is very likely that they will demand much more of a candidate than this mere fact.

BABY'S BOTTLE

Papa McCartney of Chicago took his wife, three children, a nursemaid, and eight suitcases and hampers of pasteurized specially prepared food milk for children and such things down to a train bound for the seacoast. Papa McCartney kissed them all around and went back to the office.

It was when he reached into his pocket for a cigar that he found the keys to the eight suitcases and hampers of specially prepared milk for children and such things. The train had gone. And Junior, aged 1, must have his bottle within an hour. Nothing to do, but charter a plane, chase the train, overtake it, board it, hand over the keys, kiss the family goodbye again, and return to the office. Which papa did. It cost him $130.

Just another way of saying that an age's marvels are found marvelous only in proportion to their human and not commercial use. If the airplane could not only save lives by transporting serums and doctors and were only a commercial expediency, it wouldn't have nearly the value it has.

NOWADAYS!

Bridge Made Easy

(Abbreviations: A—ace; K—king; Q—queen; J—jack; X—any card lower than 10.)

OPENING BLINDLY—3

In the previous installment were discussed the four most desirable opening leads when the declarer has named a suit. But the necessary holdings for those leads do not always occur. Below are other examples which should cover practically every situation.

All the following leads are fraught with danger, as they may place your partner in a vulnerable position and help the declarer establish winning cards.

FOURTH-FROM-TOP LEAD. For want of a better lead, open a four card suit as Q X X X, J X X X, or 10 X X X or X X X X, with the lowest in the suit.

WEAK THREE CARD SUIT. A lead from Q X X, J X X, 10 X X or X X X often leaves your partner in a maze as to your holding and is not desirable. The lead from K J 10 is less desirable.

DOUBLETON LEAD. A lead from a two card suit, as JX, 10 X, X X, A X or K X is decidedly undesirable.

WASTED LEAD. Holding A X X or A X X X, avoid leading these suits without capturing opponents' King or Queen. If you do open these suits, lead the Ace.

DENOUNCED LEAD. The lead from a suit headed by K, as K X X X, K X X, K J X X or K 10 X X will usually be denounced by your partner if you lead the lowest.

LEAST DESIRABLE LEAD. The ten-ace suits as A Q 10, A J 10, A Q X, A J X.

TOWARD A NEW WAR?

Every so often a book is written by one or another of the European statesmen who played leading roles in the drama of July and early August of 1914. When ever such a book appears it is hopped upon by historians, who immediately dissect it and emerge with certain statements, admissions or inferences with which they seek to prove that one side or the other was chiefly "to blame" for the beginning of the World War.

The latest books of this kind come from Serge Sazonov, Russian minister of foreign affairs from 1910 to 1916, and Raymond Poincare, French president when the war started, and now prime minister.

Each book has been seized and examined by all manner of critics. They prove, cry some critics, that Germany and Austria, by villainous design, brought on the war. Not so, cry other critics; they prove that France and Russia caused it. And the long argument goes on, ever hotter, not to be settled in our generation.

But such arguments, after all, seem a bit futile. Why, at this date, use up good paper figuring out whether Russia mobilized before or after Austria? Why bother whether France urged Russia on to war or tried to hold her back? What difference does it make? Aren't these questions rather beside the point?

It would be infinitely better for us to understand, once and for all, that the World War was an inevitable outgrowth of the whole European "world power" system. It simply had to happen.

Glance at Sazonov's book, for example. He gives an unintentionally damning picture of the great old game of international politics. He tells how Russia had her "sphere of influence" in the Balkans, working for "an outlet to the Mediterranean"; how Austria and Germany sought a "pathway to the Dardanelles"; how France, fearing Germany, had an understanding with Russia, and how England, also fearful, had an understanding, too; how every European capital lived in an atmosphere of fear, suspicion, hatred and ambition, with war forever on the horizon.

Such being the circumstances, it is hard to see how the war could have been avoided. It came and hit each nation involved a blow from which it has not yet recovered.

Have the old circumstances changed? Is there a new atmosphere abroad? No. Italy has her "sphere of influence" across the Adriatic; Jugoslavia has her own ideas of expansion and rivalry; France has her allied "buffer states" to the east of Germany; England negotiates with France regarding naval spheres in the Mediterranean; Poland and Lithuania, even now, are at swords' points over something else.

The old play is being re-enacted, and there is no reason to doubt that it will have, sooner or later, the same kind of climax. A new war is in the offing; quite a way off, perhaps, but certainly there. While there is still time, we might begin charting our course so that we can stay clear of it when it breaks.

A BOY SCOUT EXPLORER.

It's our guess that one of the most interesting members of that daring band who will penetrate the desolate Antarctic with Commander Byrd will be Paul Siple, 19, the Erie, Pa., Boy Scout, who was chosen from among millions of Boy Scouts for that honor.

There is something about the idea of a Boy Scout going to the South Pole with a band of hardy adventurers that challenges the imagination and fires the spirit of youth. His course is certain to be followed with avid interest by millions of boys, their fathers and their mothers.

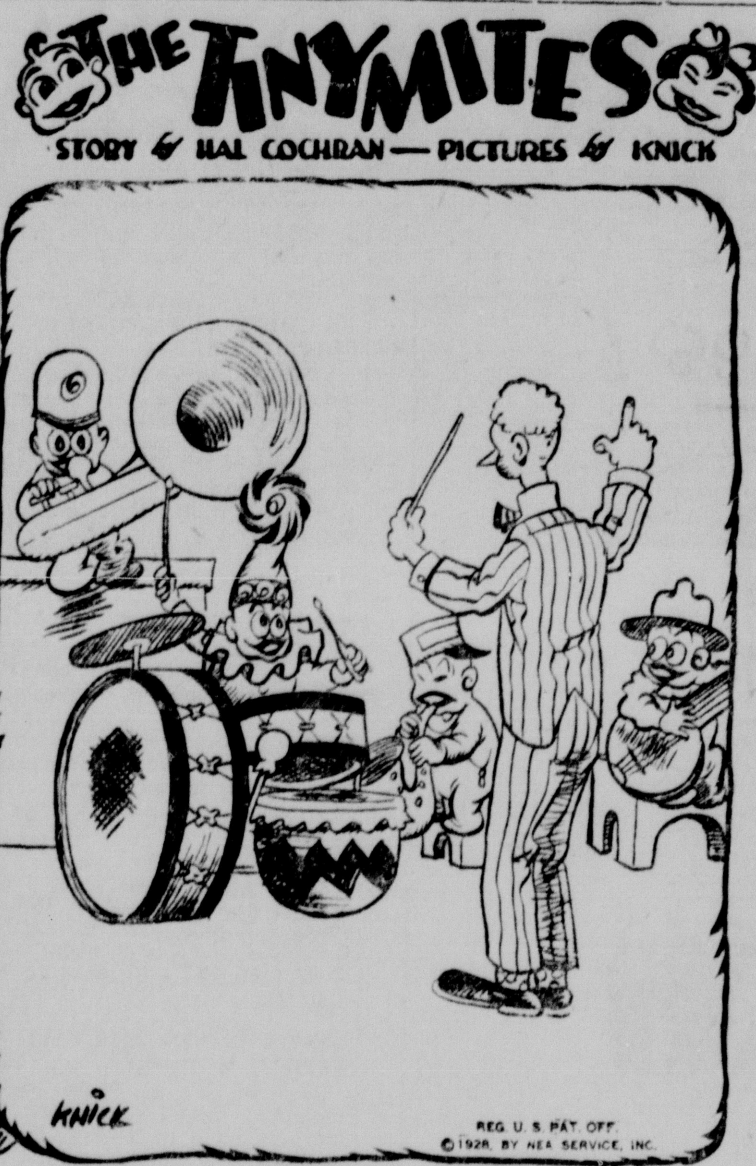

And we admire the Spartan spirit displayed by Paul's mother, Mrs. Clyde A. Siple, when she learned her boy had been given the honor of making the dangerous trip.

"If the good Lord permitted Paul to be selected, the Lord will permit him to return to me," Mrs. Siple told reporters. That's a mother who's worthy of her adventurous son.

Sixty students at Tulane University pay their way by driving taxi-cabs at night. And besides look at the practice they get in adding.

The headline, "Florida Awaits New Storm," almost makes us wonder what kind of thrill the people down there get out of that sort of thing.

British railway workers voted to cut their wages. Now if the American Prizefighters' Union could only get together!

The horse upon which Coppy sat was not too thin, nor too fat. In fact it was a dandy horse, and very pretty too. The clapping from the circus crowd, of course made Coppy feel proud. Thought he, "I'll guess I'll show them fancy tricks that I can do."

He promptly jumped and stood up straight. Somebody shouted, "Say, that's great." Then Coppy did a flip-flop. Mercy me, he almost fell. Of course that wouldn't be so sweet, but luckily he held his feet. This pleased the crowd so much they all began to loudly yell.

Outside the tent the trainer stood. He smiled 'cause Coppy was so good. And when the act was over he told Coppy, "You were great." "Oh, thank you, thank you," Coppy cried. "I think it's heaps of fun to ride. Tomorrow I'll do lots of other fancy tricks. Just wait!"

Then Clowny walked right up and said, "A new plan popped into my head. Why didn't you let me Tinymites play in the circus band? Why just as sure as you are born, we'll drum the drums or blow a horn. If I can be the drummer I will surely think that's grand."

The other Tines shouted, "Geet! A lot of fun that sure would be." "All right," replied the trainer. "Tis no sooner said than done. The old band master's in the tent." And off to find they all went. It made the trainer laugh out loud to see the Tines run.

Well Coppy got a great big horn. He blew and made it sound forlorn.

Course Clowny played the little drums and made an awful noise. Then Carpy took a saxophone and made it wail a funny tune, while Scouty played the banjo. They were very happy boys.

(Scouty does a kind turn in the next story.)

YOUR DAILY WEIGHT

The State Dealer of Weights and Measures in California has just given out some figures which should be interesting to my readers who are trying to figure how to keep better figures. He finds that the people of California are so interested in watching their weight that they actually spend on an average of a dollar a year apiece on weighing themselves on the penny scales. This average doubtless holds good all over North America, and if this is so, we are spending over $130,000,000 every year just to watch our weights go up or down.

Doubtless at least as many people are also weighing themselves on the free machines found in drug stores, and on grocery store scales.

These weighing machine statistics indicate very clearly how much the average person is interested in health, and shows the general belief that a normal weight and good health are synonymous. While health cannot be accurately measured on the scales, our interest in watching our weights is nevertheless of some value.

The thin man is often underweight because of weak digestive power or because his energy is wasted through mental overwork, or because of worry or some of the other destructive and enervating emotions. These causes must be recognized, and stuffing with food usually does not help, but often makes a thin man thinner and is liable to bring on a series of disorders which may be difficult to cure. The use of cod liver oil, or large quantities of milk, cream, fats, starches and sugars will seldom produce any permanent effects in the gaining of healthy weight.

The thin man who is underweight because of glandular derangements, enervation or insufficient digestive power, should be warned that over-feeding may only make him worse in every way. The problem of "girth" control is much easier and is almost entirely a question of diet and exercise. Although the fat man may have an abnormal tendency to avoirdupois because of improper functioning of his glandular system, his reduction of weight can be accomplished through vigorous exercise and the selection of the right kinds of food, and the use of these foods in what-ever limited quantities are necessary to accomplish the desired result.

The thin man must be just as careful to use the right foods and should usually eat three meals a day, with good combinations of the right food. He should also regulate his exercises and learn emotional control.

The fat man should not use over two meals a day, and should exercise in the gymnasium at least three or four times a week besides taking long walks.

If such rules are followed, the hand on the weighing machine may then show increased health each day, as it registers more for the thin man and less for the fat one.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION: G. L. writes: "Will you please prescribe a remedy for my mother's feet? The soles are covered with solid callouses, and her feet never perspire. They ache and pain so that sleep is almost impossible. Even the weight of her body hurts them."

ANSWER: Your mother can remove these callouses by treating her feet through soaking them in hot Epsom salts water. The treatment should continue for about thirty minutes, keeping the water reasonably warm all during this time. A handful of the salts to the ordinary basin of water is sufficient. This soaking will soften the callouses, and when the skin all over the feet becomes normal in texture it is then advisable to vary the treatment by putting the feet alternately in hot and cold water, finishing with cold water to induce a good circulation and strengthen the muscles of the feet and also the muscles which control the pores of the skin. Her feet will then perspire normally.

QUESTION: T. C. asks: "In following your menus, when should one and two-year-olds have their milk?"

ANSWER: In my opinion, children who are under three years of age should not be using much of anything else except milk. Certainly no solid food should be used until at least two years of age, and then only the non-starchy cooked vegetables. If you will give your child plenty of orange juice or other fruits with the milk he will be well nourished and require no other food until he is about three years old.

QUESTION: Mrs. C. G. asks: "Does low blood pressure in adults ever prove serious?"

ANSWER: Low blood pressure means weakness, and although many people live many years before a serious disease develops, it is nevertheless true that any general weakness which produces low blood pressure is a forerunner of very serious disorders.

SHOOTS WIFE FOR DESIRE TO ATTEND FAIR

Decatur, Ill.—Mrs. Emma Duvall, 30, Lovington, wanted to attend the Illinois state fair at Springfield, and for that reason, she may die. Mrs. Duvall was shot and seriously wounded when her husband, angered because she suggested that she be allowed to attend the state exposition, seized a double barreled shot gun and shot part of her face away. One cheek bone was shattered, and splinters of the bone have entered the brain, according to attaches at St. Mary's hospital here. She was brought here in an ambulance at an early hour today.

Following the shooting, which occurred in the Duvall home, Duvall turned the gun on himself, but the charge went wild. Duvall left the house and walked to the home of Rev. J. E. Franklin, pastor of the Lovington Christian church, and said: "I have shot my wife. I want you to take care of me." Rev. Franklin and Duvall returned to the latter's home just as his wife, unconscious and bleeding badly, was placed in the ambulance. Later Duvall was taken to Sullivan, Ill., and locked up in the Moultrie county jail, where he will be held pending the outcome of his wife's condition. According to authorities, Rev. Franklin said that Duvall "had been drinking, but was not drunk."

Watching the Big Scoreboard

BY HERBERT W. BARKER

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Baseball predictions are dangerous. When the New York Giants swept the Cardinals into defeat in three straight games at St. Louis, some of the boys thought the National League battle was all over but the shouting, and when the New York Yankees came out of their extended slump and eased their way back to a five-game lead over the Philadelphia Athletics, it was freely predicted that Connie Mack had started his bid in the American League too late to do any good.

But today the Cardinals are back on top in John Heydler's Circuit again. They lead the Pittsburgh Pirates, in fifth place, by only five and a half games. The Yankees still hold the crest in the American League but their advantage over the A's has dwindled to three games.

The Cardinals owe their advantage to the Cincinnati Reds and the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Reds beat the Pirates two out of three and the Pirates have taken two of the first three games in a four-game series now in progress at Pittsburgh. McGraw's clan now trails the Cardinals by a game and a half.

Yesterday the Corsairs, still very much in the pennant race, flogged the Giants into a disastrous 16 to 5 defeat, clouting five New York pitchers for 19 hits, good for 29 bases.

The Cardinals took advantage of this break by downing the Phils in a great pitchers' battle between Jess Haines for the Cards and Bengie and Walsh for the Phils. The Phil hurlers gave up only four hits but one of them was a home run by Ernest Orsatti, recruit Card first baseman, in the first inning with the bases empty. It was the only score of the game.

Taking a double bill from the Boston Braves, the Chicago Cubs vaulted back into third place, only three and a half games out of the lead. Pat Malone limited the Braves to six hits in the first game and walked off with a 4 to 1 verdict. Charlie Root was slightly outpitched in the nightcap by Bob Smith but the Braves defense cracked at crucial moment and the Cubs made it two wins for the day, 4 to 3.

The A's clipped a game and a half off the Yanks' lead by downing Cleveland for the fourth straight day, 1 to 0, while the champions were losing twice to the St. Louis Browns, 5 to 2 and 3 to 1.

After dropping four straight games to Detroit, all by one run margins, the Boston Red Sox turned on their tormentors and administered similar medicine to the Tigers in the final game of the series, 2 to 1.

France Staggers Under Cascade Of Stabilized Francs

BY SAVINGTON CRAMPTON

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Paris—(AP)—A mounting torrent of silver coins, disgorged from the proverbial woeen stocking of the French peasant as a result of the franc's stabilization, continues to clog the nation's financial machinery.

The tax collectors find it impossible to keep ahead of the tide, and their task of counting and shipping the money to Paris has become a tremendous burden. The tax department of the finance ministry is overwhelmed by the success of stabilization.

Hundreds of thousands of silver franc and half-franc pieces worth 20c and 10c before the war, are piling up on the counters of provincial offices.

SECOND GUESSING ON BASEBALL

BY CHARLES F. STACK

LOOKS LIKE GIANTS OR CARDS

The world's series next October will, in all probability, serve as a reminder of previous contests for the blue ribbon of the diamond. While the races in the National and American Leagues are by no means definitely settled at this time, the general opinion is that the rivals in the season's getaway series will be picked from the Giants and Cardinals in the senior circuit and undoubtedly from the Yankees and Athletics in the junior league.

A series between the Giants and Athletics would recall some stirring games between the same clubs in years gone by as well as some famous players of those times. The Giants and Yankees battling for baseball supremacy would not be new since they had the world's series all to themselves for three years running, 1921, 1922 and 1923. The Yankees and Cardinals have had one meeting with pleasant memories for the latter. Should the Cardinals and Athletics prove the winners in their respective leagues they would form a new combination for the world's series.

Transforming Players An Old Trick

In his desperation to get somewhere in the American League race, Connie Mack has had some nice things said about his managerial sagacity because of his success in experimenting with young players in other than what they regarded as their original positions. An astute manager often can discern in players certain ability which apparently is known to the players themselves.

Manager McGraw of the Giants has had remarkable success in that direction. When he took command of the Giants he found the immortal Matty trying to play first base with nothing to commend him for that position except his stature. McGraw saw the wonderful pitching prospect "Big Six" presented and developed him with what success every body who has ever heard of baseball knows. A contrary switch was that of George Wiltse, one of the best fielding pitchers of his time. Near the end of his career in the box Wiltse frequently substituted at first base for the Giants and in the world's series of 1913 performed some of the most remarkable work around the first bag that has ever been witnessed in the big games.

Hank Gowdy was enough as a first baseman to get into the major leagues, but was transformed into a better catcher. George Burns was a catcher and substitute outfielder in his minor league career and became one of the steady left fielders in the National League with the Giants. Roger Bresnahan, after several years behind the bat, played the outfield for the Giants. In his younger days Roger thought he was a pitcher.

Revenge Is Sweetest In Baseball

It has been noted on numerous occasions that nowhere is revenge sweeter than in baseball. The player who has been transferred from one club to another usually regards his cup as overflowing when he or his club can turn the tables on his former teammates. But Frank Frisch must have been able to see the bottom of his cup all through the recent Cardinal-Giant series.

It was bad enough to have Frank's former teammates win three straight from the Cards, but when those three defeats meant tumbling the Cards out of first place it looked as though fate conspired to make the "rubbing in" process a little more pungent. The Fordham Flash, however, has an opportunity left for the last laugh. The Cards will come east again.

Chick Evans Was Eliminated-Play For Title Today

Chicago, Aug. 25—(AP)—A golfing tortoise and a links hare were to match strokes today for the Western Amateur Golf championship when Frank Delp, of Portland, Ore., bid for his second title within three years, with Gus Novotny of Chicago, former University of Illinois golfer, as his opponent. The match was at 36 holes over the well trapped 7200 yard Bob O'Link course that has resisted all but six attempts to negotiate it in par this week.

In a slow methodical manner, Delp yesterday squelched all hopes Chick Evans of Chicago had of winning his ninth Western title. It was not that the Oregonian had an easy time in taking the 36 hole match 3 and 2 after seven hours of deliberate stroking. Rather it was Delp's inability to accept the match, which Evans offered him much earlier in the game with dubbed iron shots and three putt greens.

While Evans and Delp were staging their Alphonse and Gaston act, Novotny and Lawrence Moller, the Notre Dame Junior from Quincy, Ill., were enacting an all-university scene with the Illinois slogger playing the leading role. Moller made a great effort to grab the honors from Novotny when he took the first three holes of the last nine after being seven down at the twenty-seventh hole, but his effort only delayed the match until the fifteenth, where Novotny won, 4 and 3.

Fargo Express Wins Over English Boxer

Chicago, Aug. 25—(AP)—Jack Berg, the latest and most impressive lightweight importation from England, has met his master in Billy Petrolle, the "Fargo Express."

His lightning rights finding their mark almost at ease, Petrolle won by a technical knockout over the Englishman in the fifth round of their scheduled 10 round bout before 8,000 spectators at Mills Stadium last night. By his victory, Petrolle has been promised a match with Sammy Mandell for the lightweight title by promoter Jim Mullen of Chicago.

Paul Waner Crowds Hornsby For Honors With The Big Stick

New York, August 25—(AP)—Regardless of the final outcome of the race for the individual batting championship of the National League, Paul Waner has converted it from a walk-away for Rogers Hornsby to a struggle which matches the intensity of the battle now being waged by five clubs for the team championship.

According to averages issued today and including games of last Wednesday, the Rajah tops the regulars of his circuit with a mark of .376 in 99 games, but Paul, on the same figures, is only four points lower in a total of 116 games.

Other leading regular batsmen are: Lindstrom, New York, .354; Traynor, Pittsburgh, .344; Grantham, Pittsburgh, .324; Roettger, St. Louis and Sisler, Boston, .341; Bottomley, St. Louis, .336; and Hafey, St. Louis and Herman, Brooklyn, .334.

Paul Waner sets the pace in total hits with 174, in runs scored with 110, and in doubles with 31. Bissouette of Brooklyn and Bottomley are tied for the greatest number of triples, 13 each, while Sunny Jim stands in batting in runs with 101.

In addition, Bottomley is only two home runs behind Hack Wilson of Chicago, who leads the league with 28.

Cuyler of the Cubs continues at the top in stolen bases, this time with 25 to his credit.

Larry Benton, the New York ace, remains the best pitcher in the league on the games won and lost rating, with twenty victories, and four defeats through Wednesday for a percentage of .833.

Pittsburgh continues far ahead in team batting with a mark of .313. New York shades St. Louis for second by a point, .291 to .290.

It's the Shortest Way

When going any place the shortest way is the quickest way, or as the books have it, a straight line is the shortest distance between two points. The two girls above, competitors in a London school girl tennis tournament, are demonstrating that the quickest and shortest way to change courts is to go over the net. In these days of short skirts and athletic girls it is not a difficult feat and, from the expression of the face of the young lady on the left, there is a kick in it.

Breaking the News to Curtis

The grounds of the Kansas state capital at Topeka, almost within sight of the old Kaw reservation where he lived as a boy, were chosen for the formal notification of Senator Charles Curtis, informing him of his nomination as the Republican vice presidential candidate, on Aug. 18. Curtis (above) will make his acceptance speech from the steps of the capitol here shown.

TOWN DEMONSTRATION OF "SINGLE TAX" THEORY

Fairhope, Ala.—(AP)—A town built in the demonstration of an economic theory is Fairhope. Thirty years ago a band of "single taxers" from Iowa and other middle western states arrived in Baldwin county, Ala., and began acquiring land in the name of the Fairhope Single Tax corporation. Ultimately they secured 4,000 acres with considerable frontage on Mobile Bay, and built the town, now one of the principal centers of the county. Carrying out their theory, the "single taxers" do not individually own colony land, which remains in the corporation's name and is leased to citizens according to their needs. In return these pay an annual rent, and in theory, no taxes. State, county and municipal taxes are paid by the corporation.

The rent is fixed annually by the colony council, and the lessee of a vacant lot or an unused farm pays as much as his neighbor who has a home or producing acres. The theory is that no lessee under the single tax will hold land out of use. On the basis of taxation the colony's property is now worth more than $1,000,000 and building permits are running close to $100,000 a year. The town, with a population estimated at 1,500, not all of whom are single taxers, has a bank, publicly owned waterworks and electricity, schools, churches, improved streets, a public library and a system of public parks. Among the colony's benefactors was the late Joseph Feis, wealthy soap manufacturer.

Son of Umpire Connolly Gives Ruth a Glad Hand

If Babe Ruth gets into an argument with Tommy Connolly, the veteran American League umpire, he will have one member of the Connolly family on his side as an advocate. That is Arthur Connolly, 11-year-old son of the famous umpire, who is shown here shaking hands with the Sultan of Swat. The younger Connolly, like thousands of other American youngsters, thinks there is no one in baseball like Ruth.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

SYBIL THORNE, prettiest and most reckless of Boston society girls, confides the story of her romance with CRAIG NEWHALL, wealthy bachelor, to her brother TAD.

Tad, an ex-soldier, wounded and decorated, is rather shocked when Sybil confesses that she likes to get Craig, but does not love him. She says that she does not intend ever to marry because she is still in love with JOHN LAWRENCE, who was sent to France from Camp Devens on the eve of their marriage—and never returned.

Tad scolds her in brotherly fashion, but seems to understand her unconventional code. He begs her to marry and settle down; and then tells her that he has a great piece of news.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER III

"SHOOT!"

Sybil regarded her brother with sisterly affection. Saw him flush boyishly and shift his own embarrassed gaze.

"Gosh Almighty, Tad, what have you done? Killed a cop? Or done a good girl wrong?"

"No kidding," he told her. And, standing, ground his heel in the sand like a small boy torn between impulses to talk and hold his tongue. "The truth is, Sib—hang it all, I wish you didn't feel—well, anyhow, Sib, I'm engaged."

"My Gawd!" Sybil threw herself back on the sands. "Everybody gets engaged, Tad. There's as much difference between getting engaged and married as there is between an I. O. U. and a promissory note. You don't mean you're thinking of getting married, darling?"

"Say! Cut that out will you?" Tad surveyed his recumbent sister darkly. "You're darn right tootin' I'm thinking of getting married. And the sooner the quicker."

VALERIE WEST was her name.

In June she was graduated from finishing school. Tad met her shortly afterward and their engagement was announced the next month. Two weeks later her mother took her to France. It was quite the thing that season to sail on the heels of the announcement, to buy a rousseau in Paris, and be married in the spring.

Valerie was a faxen haired little creature with big violet eyes and baby ways. Wide-eyed innocence wasn't so much a pose with her as a fact.

Mrs. Thorne was delighted. It was high time, she thought, that Tad was settling down. The new generation was too much for her.

"And Valerie was such a sweet little thing! Now if Sybil would only get a nice young man."

Mrs. Thorne sighed deeply. Sybil had been, of late, a source of much vexation to the family. She had insisted, in the first place, upon going to work.

"I don't see why not," she argued. "I don't want to hang around the house any more than Tad does. Maybe I could sell bonds, too. Anyhow, if you don't let me do something, I'll pull a breakdown. Complete collapse. Nervous prostration. You wait and see."

"I suppose," conceded her father finally, "I could find a place for you in the office."

But Sybil declined vigorously. "Nothing doing," she informed him tartly. "I'll make my own way."

Boasting youthfully, she took an intensive course in shorthand and typewriting, which fitted her in three months for a stenographer's job in a publishing house on Beacon Hill.

A passion for work, and real aptitude for the business, promoted her to a secretarial position. Then she announced that she was going to buy all her own clothes. With the acquisition of what she termed

"utter independence," her parents pronounced her "altogether unmanageable." The difference of opinion developed into family relations so strained that poor Mrs. Thorne spent most of her time in tears.

TAD became a Reformed Rake, and philosophized on the trend of the times.

"You know, Sib," he used to say, "there's something wrong with the kids today. They've no sense of values. Darn little appreciation of anything worth while. Pleasure is their little tin god. And they haven't any other. Thank the Lord Valerie's different stuff. Now there's a girl for you!"

Sybil smiled indulgently. "You sure know how to pick 'em," she conceded goodnaturedly. "But I think you're sort of hard on the rest of the kids, Tad. You see, they never knew the world we lived in—before the war, I mean. Customs, manners, conventions—everything's changed since you and I were 18. It took only four years to make America over."

"Why, Tad, I'd been kissed just twice when I was 18. The first time I felt as if I'd been desecrated, and cried about it. The second time, I thought I was in love."

"I had an awful crush on Sam Hedges and let him kiss me one night in the hammock on the piazza. And the very next day Mrs. Hedges came over and talked a lot to mother about 'calf love.' I was listening to it all at the top of the stairs. And somehow I got asocializing Sam, in my mind, with a secretarial position. Then she announced that she was going to buy all her own clothes. With the acquisition of what she termed

"utter independence," her parents pronounced her "altogether unmanageable." The difference of opinion developed into family relations so strained that poor Mrs. Thorne spent most of her time in tears.

REALIGNMENT OF WESTERN ROADS SOON FORECASTED

Switches Of Executives Indicates Advantageous Grouping

Chicago, Aug. 24. (AP)—Forecasts of a new grouping of mid-west and far western railway lines, which would do much toward eliminating present competition, and avert threatened disputes among pacific lines, has followed announcement of several reported pending changes in major executive positions on western systems.

The Associated Press has been informed that Hale Holden, president of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad, will become chairman of the executive committee of the Southern Pacific road this fall, to succeed Henry W. DeForest.

Appointment of Holden was considered in financial circles as a means of averting disagreements between the Southern Pacific and the Western Pacific, LaSalle street gossip said.

HOLDEN TO SOUTH PACIFIC?

New York, Aug. 24. (AP)—Hale Holden, President of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad Co., will become associated with the Southern Pacific Railroad Co. about the first of the year as chairman of the executive committee, it was reported in Wall street.

It is expected that A. D. McDonald, present Vice Chairman, will devote his time to his duties as President of the Texas & Louisiana lines of the Southern Pacific system. Henry W. DeForest probably will remain chairman of the committee.

About th' first question that's asked about a weddin' these days is, "Who wuz her first husband?" Th' radio an' lots o' modern things are wonderful, but who ever dreamed he'd live t' see th' day when Texas would be a doubtful state?

FOUR BROTHERS ALL IN SINGLE LAW FIRM

Bridgeport, Conn.—(AP)—A law firm here now has four brothers of the same family and operates under the family name. It is said to be without precedent in Connecticut.

The fourth member of the firm was admitted when David M. Reich of Bridgeport was admitted to the Connecticut state bar and thus qualified to practice law with his three brothers.

WORK HARD TO PREVENT INSANITY, SAYS EXPERT

New Orleans, La.—(AP)—Isolation and boredom are responsible for more mental disease than the high tension and speed of modern living, says Dr. Julianio Moreira, internationally known psychiatrist. Dr. Moreira, who recently visited New Orleans on his way to Japan and Germany, recommends hard work as a factor in mental health.

Speaking of boredom as inducing insanity, the specialist recalls the story of the North Dakota farmer whose wife became insane. The farmer told a doctor questioning him as to her manner of living that he could not understand her insanity, since she "has had no excitement. Why, for the past 40 years, she hasn't been out of her back yard or her kitchen."

"It is that monotony and isolation, such as this story illustrates, that in my opinion has been the cause of farm more mental disease than the fastest speed at which modern life can move," says Dr. Moreira.
